

Southern Exposure Photographer Policy: What You Need to Know (Updated 6/1/20)

Southern Exposure welcomes photographers to visit our beautiful grounds for photo sessions free of charge during our regular business hours. We are a seasonal business open from the first week of April through mid-December. Our regular daily business hours during that season are Wednesday to Sunday, 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 pm.

Please Note: During the longer summer days, we do allow photographers to stay past our normal closing time until dusk on our regular open days to capture the magical lighting of the “golden hour” in the gardens.

Contact Us Before You Come:

Please contact us at least a day ahead of your photo session to confirm that we will not be closed for a special event. We do close the entire farm for every wedding. Our wedding season runs from May through mid-October, so be sure to contact us ahead of time if you are interested in doing a photo session on a Friday or Saturday during that time period. We also greatly appreciate being tagged or mentioned in any photos posted to social media with the text: “Southern Exposure Herb Farm.”

Wedding Photographers:

If you are contracted to take wedding photographs for a couple, please make sure to let us know your plans at least a week in advance.

New This Year:

When you arrive for your photo session, please stop by the Corn Crib to sign our guest book that will be available immediately to your left as you walk in the front door. Please also indicate the time you arrived and departed, so we can be aware of who is on the property throughout the day. Thanks!

Contact Information:

E-mail: southernexposurefarm@comcast.net
Phone: (269) 962-1255

Address:

Southern Exposure Herb Farm
11269 N Drive North
Battle Creek, MI 49014

For a map to our location, please visit our website at www.SouthernMoon.com and click on the link called “Contact Us.”